CAROLYN BOWMAN BLAU

241 ASHBOURNE ROAD
COLUMBUS, OHIO

In school 6 years.

"A brown eye is a roguish one."

Carol's sheepish grin is certainly no indication of what is going on behind those twinkling eyes of hers. Her love of fun is illustrated by her Monday morning revelations of her weekend jaunts. Carol's life, however, is not all frivolity, for her sense of values has been a major factor in her successful leadership of the student body, both as Secretary and President of Student Council. The firm belief which she has in her convictions has enabled her to uphold her ideas and those of the students and attempt to make these ideas coincide with those of the faculty. Yet she never lets her problems get her down. She can laugh at these problems, then settle down to weigh them and come up with a typical Blau solution. This same initiative and ingenuity have been the compelling force behind many class activities and Blau ideas. This Blau originality often results in her leading her many friends in their good times at spreads, dances, and parties (especially at the Beta House). It is the sparkle in her eyes that seems to help Carol to find the sparkle in everything she does.

Boo + good luck with love. Susan

In school four years.

"A dancing shape, an image gay
To haunt, to startle, and waylay."

Ever since she entered C.S.G. in our Freshman year, Susan has been a lively and enthusiastic member of our class. As class president this year, she has striven to keep us from going astray and has always seen us through our little difficulties. When any of the class has been down in the dumps, Susie could send us into gales of laughter with one of her timely remarks. Although we often hear her say, "You can't do that!" or "Really, girls, you might get into trouble!", we know our fiery red-head loves parties and is always ready for a good time. As a member of nearly every club and many various teams, with her school spirit and zest for life, she bubbles over into her famous impromptu poems and songs. Although we tease Susan about her loyalty to the South, her innocence (?), and her pathetic, "I know I'm ugly, Judy, but I really can't help it", our class would be lost without its fun-loving, vivacious leader.

JUDITH ANNE CADOT

126 SOUTH VIRGINIA LEE DRIVE
COLUMBUS, OHIO

In school four years.

"Blushes are the rainbow of modesty."

With her ever-present cheerfulness and seemingly endless vitality, Judy has made an indelible impression upon her many friends at C.S.G. She has participated in nearly every activity, always with the helpful suggestions that have made her an invaluable member of such organizations as Choir and I'Pittori. But Judy scored her most direct hit with her performance in "Stage Door" this year. Aside from these activities, she has wielded a mean hockey stick and thrown many a bowling ball. Moreover, she has proved herself a dependable member of our class through her work as our Vice-President-Treasurer last year. But Judy is best known as a girl who is always ready for fun, preferably lots of it!

NANCY BLUE COTTINGHAM

1945 INDIANOLA AVE.
COLUMBUS, OHIO

In school 7 years.

"Nice to be natural,
When one is naturally nice."

Don't let that expression of supposed innocence deceive you, for behind it are the ways of the devil, himself. Nancy loves a good time and a little mischief now and then, and wherever she goes, so go the fun and merriment. She has that rare, much coveted ability to take everything in her stride and come up smiling. Her unruffled calm in all situations is the wonder of us all. Her sweet disposition and winning personality, with which she puts everyone at ease, have endeared her to the hearts of young and old alike. But more important, we shall remember "Scotty" as a good classmate and an even better friend.

BARBARA LYNN EBNER
4500 DUBLIN ROAD
COLUMBUS, OHIO

In school two years.

"Her winning smile charms all,
Her laughter bubbles like a brook."

"Hey! Kids! How about a party up the river?" The Seniors know the voice belongs to none other than Barbara who has been with us just two short years. The untiring energy she brought from Bexley has constantly kept our class in a hilarious uproar. Her talents for dancing, singing, telling jokes, and being a grand hostess are "bonne fortune" to the Class of '51. As President of Choir she proved her ability as a leader. Wherever Barb goes, we, as her classmates, know that her enthusiasm will carry her far.

JOAN EVANS
131 FRANKLIN PARKWAY
COLUMBUS, OHIO

In school twelve years.

"A fountain of perpetual peace flows here."

Joan has been a loyal and ardent member of the class ever since she entered the first grade. She has been a great asset in upholding the scholastic standing and the principles of the Class of '51. Her ability to tackle anything that comes her way with a smile is one of her rare gifts. Her efficiency and excellent work as our president in Sixth and Seventh Grades and of Classical Club, have made a place for her in our hearts. Every day in Chapel she keeps us all in step with her "Left, right, left, right." At noon in the Senior Room she tames our outbursts with, "Girls, let's not be bitter!" No matter how dark the situation seems, Joan always finds a pleasant side and has a kind word for everyone, and we all love her for it.

JEAN JACKSON KRAMER
2251 CRANFORD ROAD
DURHAM, NORTH CAROLINA

In school 1 year.

"Her eyes as stars of twilight fair
Like twilights, too, her dusky hair."

If you hear the phrase, "How on earth do you do them so fast?", you'll know it's Jean on her fourth pair of argyles for the week. She not only knits for a living, she also writes. As editor of Scroll, she has done a miraculous job since she has been with us only her senior year. Although Jean appears often to be only a silent partner, she is really witty and ready for fun at all times. She is known for her Southern accent and those big blue eyes, and not the least for "Dear Ole Duke". Possessing the ability to understand problems, she has become famous for the helpful advice that has gained her many friends in a short time.

BARBARA JANE MacGREGOR
BRAEBURN FARM
CEDARVILLE, OHIO

In school four years.

"A bonnie lass and free from care
Her voice is sunshine everywhere."

If you need information about money matters, the Navy, farming, or Scotland, or if there is something around school that needs mending, Jane MacGregor is the girl to see. Maybe because of her neatness, or maybe because of her Scotch ancestry, (or possibly it was a combination of the two) Jane has continually been involved in the financial matters of the school, twice as class treasurer, and again as business manager of Scroll and Topknot. With separate little stacks of money carefully tucked away in each pocket, she has more different departments than a national bank. When it comes to the Navy, she can tell you everything including the fact that Victory Ships are named for colleges (so if you can't get in, go join the Waves). She keeps the Class of '51 amused by her orange ribbons on St. Patrick's Day (just another reminder that she is only eight greats removed from her Scotch ancestor, Rob Roy) and with her never-ending supply of tales about Cedarville and the farm. If you should see a plaid clad figure highland flinging on her way, it's Mac, looking for new worlds to conquer.

BRENDA JEFFREY MYKRANTZ
2655 BRENTWOOD RD.
COLUMBUS 9, OHIO

In school four years.

"She's little but she's wise;
She's a corker for her size."

Who won the wailwoad war? Just ask Brenda. It isn't that Brenda has a speech defect, it's just that she can't pronounce her r's. But never let it be said that a little thing like this stands in the way of our ever effervescing "Petit-Cri-Cri." For Brenda's size is certainly no indication of her capability either in school or out. As president of "Le Cercle Francais" and a member of Scroll and Debate Club, her leadership symbolizes the expression "small but mighty". From her sprints up the Senior Stairs to high hurdles on horse back, Cricket displays the fine quality of sportsmanship as she did as Gold Team Captain in her Junior year. Brenda, or Mike as she is also known, can often be seen petting a stray dog on the playground, or just as often can be counted on to incite us to a good time. The person who coined the phrase "all around girl" must have been thinking of Brenda.

PATRICIA ANN NEALON
1100 GRANVILLE ROAD
NEWARK, OHIO

In school three years.

"She smiled to many, though she loved but one."

From the Senior Room strange noises are heard! It is only Patti, displaying her enthusiastic joy and exuberant giggles. During her three years at C.S.G., she has exhibited her many talents by being class and team song leader, color guard captain, member of Lodge Council, and as Lodge vice-president. Long will live in Patti's mind, as well as in those of her classmates, her superb weekend at Cornell, and her letters postmarked Newark. Patti's life is always spiked with joy and her eye with a sparkle of Burgundy!

JUDY ROTH
154 SO. ARDMORE
COLUMBUS, OHIO

In school five years.

"Tis good to be merry and wise."

Judy in her quiet (?) way has exerted a wide influence both in our class and in the school. She often helps us to see the lighter side in our many problems. During her Junior year she successfully served as class president. This year, as captain of the Gold Team, she has helped us to acquire the coveted team cup. The best part about Judy, though, is her wit and love of fun and her ability to make us see the funny side of a serious situation. That friendly shuffle up the Senior stairs and that "big red" smile are a sure sign that spring is here and so is Judy. Her love of animals ranges from domestic pets to the sophisticated Seniors! But whether it's dogs or people, Judy has many friends who all wish her the best of everything.

Dear Sara, You have been a wonderful friend. Lots of luck next year. Always remember Joey. Love + Luck, "Joey"

JOANNE SLATER
2530 BRYDEN ROAD
COLUMBUS, OHIO

In school five years.

"Always a smile and a pleasant word for all."

Joey's graciousness and zest have made bright all her five years at C.S.G. A cheery "Hello" in the morning or a quiet "Just a moment" have calmed many an argument among her classmates. Her graciousness stops not merely at this, but continues in every thought she has. Whether at a formal or in the Lodge, she sets at ease all the people she meets and makes them know that she is their friend. Joey takes pride in a thing well done and, in school, the zest with which she undertakes every task is visible. In all sincerity, Joey, your class wishes you the happiest of years in the future and the best of everything good to come.

SALLY LOUISE SMALLSREED
387 FRANKLIN AVENUE
COLUMBUS, OHIO

In school six years.

"Pretty to walk with,
Witty to talk with,
And pleasant to think on."

"Now wait a minute – Let me explain." These words we hear above the maddening roar of the Senior Room. Silence prevails as everyone wants to see if it is Sal's new creation in art or her newest hair do. Sally, President of I'Pittori, is known, not only for her art work, but also for her constant wit. Parties are never dull when Sally is combining her abilities with piano, voice, and uke with which she entertains many at odd times of the day and night. During her years at C.S.G. she has participated in many sports, as you can see by her emblem clustered blazer. Her invariable wit and ability to come up with new ideas have made her a favorite with all.

BEXLEY, OHIO

In school 4 years.

"Divinely tall and most divinely fair"

"Just wait 'til you're as tall as me" is a phrase often said by "Little Mary," the Seniors' Towers Model. Always ready for a little nonsense, Ginnie and her sparkling personality form the forces behind many class projects. Ginnie is known to many of us as "the standing goalie" and whether in her big white shinnies on the hockey field or counting the money in the Senior Pound strongbox, Ginnie is always hitting the ball for the Class of '51. Aside from her sportsmanship and originality she is also known for her leadership and dramatic ability. In her Senior year she played one of the major parts in the Dramatic Club play and her enthusiastic energy was the major factor in the successful portrayal of her part. Ginnie's leadership ability is shown in the 1951 Topknot of which she is the Senior Editor. If you ever see a girl walking on the campus of Depauw with a bottle of Vigoro in her pocket and her specs down on her nose—you're right —it's Ginnie!

In school four years.

"And yet a spirit still and bright
With something of an angel light."

Nancy arrived at C.S.G. four years ago, and since then, has taught the fifteen members of the Senior Class all that's to be known about the "Pumpkin Show" city. She will always be remembered by the Lodgers for her devilment and her sunny disposition. As President of the Lodge, Nan has always done her part, and at every council meeting we hear that famous quotation, "What we need around here is a little system." With her highly infectious laughter, and her ability to make everyone laugh with her, Nan is a "must" at every party. So with these traits and a wonderful girl in mind, we all wish her loads of luck—beginning with Purdue!

ROSES AND WHITE GOWNS

To the tune of "Younger than Springtime"

Roses and white gowns we see
Now that we leave C.S.G.
Days that we spent here, memories they brought us shall not fail us.

Innocent days of our youth
Following pathways of truth
Knowing full well the future will hold such cares for us.

And when our youth and joy shall fade from view
Now we shall still have thoughts of you
For days that we spent here were gay
Though we will soon be away
Long will we cherish all of our days at C.S.G.

THE CLASS WILL

We, the Class of 1951, being of totally unsound minds and completely unstable physical condition, hereby do draw up this document, our last will and testament.

To Betsy Blocker: Susan Hayward leaves not only her Confederate money in hopes that the South will rise to the occasion, but also those convenient trips South when everyone else is freezing to death up here.

To Becky Bonnell: Nancy Cottingham leaves her athletic ability so that she can some day teach Miss Taylor's class and Barbara Ebner wills her the long rides home. Make good use of them, Becky!

To Dixie Brand: Sally Smallsreed leaves her inimitable love of clothes while Nancy Watt leaves her the love (?) for the pre-school children.

To Carol Brooks: Judy Cadot leaves her long locks with the hope that some day she might invent a new method for washing long hair; Joanne Slater wills her modeling ability (?) in hopes that Carol can fall off a platform and trip down stairs as gracefully as she did.

To Emy Brooks: Joan Evans gives her honored position as president of the "Smuggie Club" while Jane MacGregor wills all her unpaid bills and the pleading statement, "Will you please pay your bills?"

To Oralee Coughlin goes Brenda's love of parties, while Virginia Stage leaves her the keys to the Senior Pound money box. Please don't lose them as many times as we did.

To Sally Dawes: Another Sally by the name of Smallsreed joins with Carol Blau in offering a standing date plus the famous 98%. You figure out which is which, Miss Dawes.

To Nancy Dial: Jean Kramer gives with reluctancy, the softest bed in the Lodge, while Nancy Watt wills that anticipation (?) of college week-ends.

To Corinne Francis: Judy Cadot hands down her dramatic ability (?) in hopes that some day she might obtain those "Arden" characteristics. Joan Evans also wills her knowledge of the outcome of the Trojan War so that Pussy won't have to work too hard at it.

To Iris Haegele: Sally Smallsreed leaves her well-known, moth-eaten, bristleless paint brushes and Judy Roth bequeaths her wonderful French accent.

To Carole Hirsh: Barbara Ebner wills her ability to break all dates gracefully; that is, all except the right one, Carole. And her fellow Lodger, Patti Nealon, wills her never-ending love of vacations.

To Emily Houghton: Our post-miss, Jane MacGregor, leaves her helpful trots to the mailbox and Susan Hayward wills her unobtainable hockey emblem, the only one of its kind.

To Jane Huffman: Virginia Stage bequeaths her bottle of Vigoro with the wish that Janie might someday become a Towers model too. Patty Nealon leaves her the unique ability to keep the Lodge in an uproar.

To Joyce Jeffries: Jane MacGregor passes on her solutions to the labyrinths of mathematics and Judy Roth graduates with the hope that Joyce will keep alive the purpose of "National Smile Week."

To Jane Power: Judy Cadot hands down her title of sophisticated lady, while Judy Roth leaves the coveted position of M.M.M.M.'s daughter-in-law and hopes that she uses the title well.

To Peggy Putney goes that wonderful washboard of Carol Blau's with the hope that she won't have to do too much scrubbing on it and Virginia Stage leaves her innocent expression with the idea that maybe she will use it well. (You know what we mean, Peg.)

To Nancy Slade: Brenda wills her love of horses and Joan Evans reluctantly gives her bottle of H_2O_2 with the wish that you will not be the girl with the green hair, Nancy.

To Barbara Swisher: Nancy Watt gives her bent and wobbly bobby pins. We hope they don't come out at night. And to her also, Joanne Slater leaves those trips to the dentist. We wish that they would cut all the s's out of the alphabet, too, Barbara. (etheths, that ith.)

To Sally Taylor: Brenda Mykrantz bequeaths her ability to burst forth with subtle remarks with the sincere hope that Sally's class will be as understanding as the Class of '51. And Barbara Ebner leaves her promptness to parties and her ability to make the right excuses.

To Anne Toffey: Carol Blau leaves her ticket to Yale with the assurance that she can get dates without her brother's aid and Patti Nealon wills Anne the other 2% with hopes that she uses it wisely.

To Shirley Zierer: Nancy Cottingham wills her tan—the many stories that the Class of '51 has heard about those different boys—Look out, Shirley! It must be a charm. Our whiz at knitting, Jean Kramer, bequeaths her ability to "clack" the needles with satisfying results.

To Nancy Zox: Susan Hayward leaves her love for playing the part of a maid—but remember, Nan, she graduated to second position as a dancer. Nancy Cottingham passes down the position of owning a blue convertible in hopes that you might be able to leave to an equally fortunate girl in the Class of '53 this same honor.

To the Class of 1952: The seniors will those special senior privileges and all the trials and tribulations of just being a senior. We give, also, to the Class of '52 our procrastination in completing term papers. But most of all we hope that you will treat the Senior Stairs with not only love and kindness but also caution. For who knows who the next victim might be.

To the Class of 1953: We leave our wonderful Gold Team Cup along with all the spreads and songs that have led us to victory. Always keep the Gold Team victorious.

To the Class of 1957: We leave our mascots, flag, and class song. Always be loyal to the green and the gold and above all, have as many happy days at C. S. G. as we have had.

To this we put our hand and seal on this, the seventh day of June, nineteen hundred and fifty-one.

The Class of Fifty One.

THE CLASS PROPHECY

As we gather on this humid summer night we are strangely able to see far into the future. We are swept from the rushing present to a dusty country road. At first the only thing in sight is a small figure busily trotting down the road. At a second glance we see that this figure really is quite small; in fact, it is the noble founder of the Mykrantz Minimizing Method. Brenda is so intent on breaking her record of a pound lost per minute that she dashes right by us and headlong into a young woman posting bills. As we follow Brenda we see that this singular female is Nancy Watt. Nancy has at last attained her life-long ambition: "assistant county bill-poster".

The reason for this sudden supply of placards is that Carol Blau has just found a bigger, better and more expensive way to make more money faster. As the posters say, this is the gala opening night of the fabulous Blau, Barnum and Bailey Circus. Always an efficient little organizer, Carol has enlisted the eager help of her former classmates in this colossal project. Sure enough, there on the poster we see beautiful Babs Ebner, now a "curvacious" bare-back rider, astride her snow white stallion, Noonday Moon.

Backed by her insatiable curiosity Brenda is off to the circus. Seeing the array of colorful tents in a nearby field, we decide to join her for a glimpse at the Class of '51.

As we stop to buy our tickets the voice and carrot-top behind the counter seem oddly familiar, and there at the ticket window we see Jane MacGregor, handling the book-keeping, as usual. Jane became so proficient at squeezing the last penny out of her friends at C.S.G. that she consented to come up from the farm for a few days to help Carol in her new business venture.

Inside the gates we hear the ominous cry of "popcorn, peanuts." Instead of a shrill, piercing voice, it is a smooth, dreamy southern drawl and we turn to find Jean Kramer. Bored with the charmin' southern gentlemen, she has come up from North Carolina to add to the atmosphere.

While we tread across the field, a sudden flash blinds us and we look up to see stylish Susan Hayward smiling gaily over her camera. Surrounded by dozens of press men and ogling admirers, Susan is really in her glory. We exchange a friendly greeting and continue on our way around the circus grounds.

The usual predominant odor of horses and hay is so persistent that we are all nearly convulsed with sneezing and coughing. We are not, however, left in this peculiar predicament for long. For, from up out of nowhere, pops Joan Evans and her latest discovery "Evans Elixir for Eleviating Ellergies." Joan has spent many long hours perfecting this miraculous new formula.

Once inside the big top, we push our way to our seats. The three rings are going strong and our brilliant C.S.G. alumnae are again holding their own. Down in front we see Nancy Cottingham with her miniature pigmy act, all strangely attired in O.S.U. sweat shirts.

Out in the arena, swinging high above our heads, Joanne Slater is displaying the intricacies of a new dance step, as she balances on a wire. Well, Joanne always did like dangerous and fascinating living. In the next ring Judy Roth is bravely facing her well-trained Golden Tigers. She calms them with a tender word or a snap of her whip (at the risk of being mauled, of course.) Certainly, in this, as in any other daring occupation, experience is the best teacher.

Suddenly we are greeted with a great burst of laughter from the other side of the tent and whom should we see but Patty Nealon, our own little organ grinder. Patty, complete with red and gold spots and bubbling over with voluminous jokes and merriment, is stealing the show, as usual.

Outside the big tent once again we hear the loud voice of the glamorous barker, Ginny Stage, calling attention to the most dramatic and romantic show of the age. Ginny brushed up on her yodeling at those western rodeos, you know. Inquiring further we find that Judy Cadot has risen from her humble beginnings at C.S.G. and is now the producer and leading lady of a one act play entitled "Circus Exit."

Looking into another booth we see Sally Smallsreed gazing into her crystal ball. She offers to tell your fortune and give advice to the lovelorn, advice based on her own lavish and mystic experiences.

We pause for a brief moment only, for our time here in the future is growing very short.

"Popcorn, peanuts."

Row 2: Margaret Putney, Barbara Swisher, Sally Dawes, Becky Bonnell, Betsy Blocker, Jane Power, Nancy Dial.
Row 3: Corinne Francis, Carole Brooks, Emy Brooks, Emily Houghton, Oralee Coughlin, Dixie Brand.
Row 4: Nancy Slade, Shirley Zierer, Iris Haegele.
Absent: Sally Taylor, Anne Toffey.

For ten years we have waited, and now here we are,—Juniors! It is everything we hoped for and even more. Some of our new distinctions have been ushering the guests through the receiving line at the Christmas Dinner and at Commencement, and being in charge of the Junior-Senior Farewell. Other honors have been the Secretary of the Council and the Captain of the Red Team, chosen from our class. For our projects we continued food sales at The Farm and the sale of C.S.G. stationery and bookmarks. We also add to this list a skating party in the spring, which we had great fun giving.

We Sophomores returned to school this year with a new room, a new teacher, and one new student. Miss Rechlin has been "learning the ropes" along with us on some of our new responsibilities as Sophomores and we appreciate her many valuable ideas.

Our first job was "Silhouette" which, after a little practice, we have running fairly smoothly. Our plan for having fun and making money at the same time did just that. Our backward dance in the gym was enjoyed by all, even though Academy's juke box refused to run. Very soon we shall use up this money on our next project: the Freshman-Sophomore Dance, which we hope will be an even greater success. We are being different this year and are staging it on the first floor of Parsons Place. We are looking forward to giving our class party and the traditional tea for the teachers and mothers of the class of '53. Many thanks to all the fine people who have made this year a success for us; we hope Miss Rechlin has enjoyed our class as much as we have enjoyed being her students.

Row 3: Laura Stanley, Nancy Sharp, Ann McCormack, Nancy Walton, Suzanne Ziskind, Susannah Slade, Connie Evans, Marjorie Kidd.

As Freshmen, we the Class of 1954 have had an exciting and most interesting year. Under Miss Guion's superior guidance we have become adjusted to Upper School and its responsibilities. During the year we have had several candy sales, which were very successful. Our main project, however, was selling C.S.G. stickers. Early in the fall we gave our class party to the Eighth Form, the theme being "Election Day". Our social life was topped off by the Freshmen-Sophomore Dance. We all worked hard on the decorations and had a wonderful time.

Standing: Carol Kennon, Roberta Yenkin, Jane Peters, Myla Maye Shisler, Margaret Knies, Barbara Kent, Sally Schwarzell, Beatrice Isaac, Marcia Wilcox, Sylvia English, Ann Johnston.
Absent: Patsy Zelkoff.

This year the first activity of the Eighth Form was a candy sale to raise money for our treasury. We had another one soon after that, and both were successful. The girls directed and staged the play The Red-Headed League, which they gave in chapel. Our class party for the Seventh Form, whose topic was The Future, went off with a bang, and we all had fun doing it.

Absent: Lisa Weissenbach, Sandra Griffin.

This year our class has been busy getting acquainted with the Upper School. We have done many things, such as having candy sales, which are new to us and which we enjoyed a lot. We have also had two plays, "Curses, Foiled Again," and "Midsummer Night's Dream," both of which we enjoyed putting on. We all love the Upper School and are glad we have five more years to look forward to.

LOWER SCHOOL

PRESCHOOL

It is the aim of our preschool to give the child the best possible environment for physical, mental, and social development. This has been accomplished by having a pleasant, cheerful, and attractive preschool room. It is equipped with materials and toys which stimulate the child's growth in every respect. Thus, through music, art, stories, dramatizations, and dancing we achieve our goal in preschool.

Left to right, Row 1: Louise Gorrel, Claudia Mangum, Chris Gabay, Eugenie Halter, Martha Wyker, Connie Fair.

The Council has had a busy year but all the members are very pleased with the cooperation of the students. The demerit system has been satisfactory, and our War Orphan Project has been successfully completed. Thanks to the contributions of the whole student body, we have now adopted a thirteen year old war orphan for a year. Without everyone's help, the Council couldn't have had such a profitable year.

DRAMATIC CLUB

At the beginning of the year, the Dramatic Club took in many new members to supplement its thin ranks at that time. On February 24, in conjunction with the boys of Columbus Academy, we gave our annual big production. The play given this year was George S. Kauffman's "Stage Door". Thanks to the kind assistance of our faculty adviser, Mrs. Robert Kanengeiser, and the able direction of Mrs. Katherine Kittle, "Stage Door" went very smoothly and was a big success, both dramatically and financially.

This year the Debate Club took in five new members at the initiation tea held at Corinne Francis' home. We had a very successful year under the faithful guidance of Miss Elliot and Mrs. Geist and were able to give two panel discussions and a debate in Chapel. The subjects of the discussions and the debate were: "There should be Universal Military Training in the United States," and "Taxation."

SCROLL

We, the Scrollers, in celebrating our fiftieth anniversary, feel that this year's "Scrolls" exemplify the high standards set for us by past members of the club. We feel that the cooperation of the students and their fine writing ability have been prime factors in the success of both our issues. We wish to extend our sincere appreciation and heartiest thanks to Miss Guion, through whose ideas and efforts we have been able to accomplish so much.

The Choir had a very successful year under the capable direction of Mrs. West and Barbara Ebner, our president. Preparing for the Christmas Dinner and, of course, for our third Annual Spring Concert was just as much fun as the actual event, especially when we rehearsed with the boys. The program in May and the dance afterward were perfect, but, as you know, the most familiar place to find a Choir member is up there on the stage in Chapel.

I'PITTORI

Under the guidance of our new art teacher, Mrs. Beifus, I'Pittori, after enlarging the club, has taken on a number of new projects. Besides designing and making programs for the traditional Christmas Play and Dinner, I'Pittori presented a beautiful Easter display which remained on exhibition for two weeks. We again concluded the year with the annual art exhibit in which we showed and judged the work of I'Pittori members, as well as the work of other members of the school.

Le Cercle Français a commencé l'année par présenter une pièce de Molière, "Les Précieuses Ridicules." Le six janvier nous avons encore celébré la Fête des Rois. La personne qui a trouvé la pièce d'argent dans son gâteau est devenue reine pour un jour. Nous avons aussi assisté à plusiers films français. Nous attendons la dernière fête de l'année, un thé, où la classe de Français IV va présenter quelque divertissenemt aux autres. Nous avons joui d'une année vraiment intéressante grâce à la direction superbe de Mademoiselle Rowe.

LE CERCLE FRANCAIS

CLASSICAL CLUB

Under the direction of Miss Rechlin, the members of the Classical Club presented a chapel service entirely in Latin. The Latin students of Columbus Academy were invited to participate in the singing of the service, during which the pupils of the second year Latin class presented a Miracle play. The new members were initiated into the club at a tea given at school. A delicious cake on which were written the words, "Io Saturnalia!", was served on this occasion.

PHILANTHROPIC COMMITTEE

The Philanthropic Committee has been very active this year. At Thanksgiving, this season, we collected food which was sent to the Day Nurseries in Columbus and jellies which we took to the Cancer Clinic. At Christmas, baskets were filled and taken to needy families. We were very successful during the Community Chest Drive and the Red Cross Drive guided by the able assistance of Miss Roberts.

Under the able training of Miss Taylor, the Hockey Team has improved tremendously this year. Although there were no games with other schools, there was much enjoyment in the Red-Gold matches. The Reds won the first game, 3-1 and the Golds the second, with a score of 3-2. The twelve girls chosen for the Varsity Hockey Team received their emblems. Whether the girl received an emblem or not, she had great fun and excellent training in this exciting sport, and each left feeling that she had learned much that was new and valuable about the fundamentals of hockey.

HOCKEY TEAM

VOLLEYBALL TEAM

This year the volleyball team, under the capable leadership of Mrs. Abbott, played one team competition game, with the Golds winning 38 to 16. This game, and the practices were held in the gym. The girls taking volleyball showed a fine team spirit and co-operation.

Left to right, Seated: Darlene Puckett, Esther Powers, Linda Fulton, Sandra Griffin.

The Soccer Team had a very successful year under the capable leadership of Miss Taylor. Every Tuesday afternoon a group of girls hurried to the farm to get their favorite positions. At the close of the season there was a Red-Gold game which ended in a tie, 2-2.

SOCCER TEAM

BASKETBALL TEAM

This basketball season has been very interesting. There were two Red-Gold games; the Golds won the first 7-4, and the Reds the second 13-5. Good sportsmanship was shown by each girl. The captain of the Gold Team was Nancy Cottingham; co-captains of the Red Team were Becky Bonnell and Emily Houghton.

Although there has been only one bowling tournament between the Red and Gold Teams this season, we have had a very successful year. The scores have been high, the sportsmanship good, and everyone feels that she has learned much about the technique of bowling.

BOWLING TEAM

FENCING

Under the excellent leadership of Miss Taylor, the Junior Fencing Class made great progress. The class, which had been discontinued a few years before, now hopes that they will be able to keep up this very profitable sport. New material helped to inspire the class, and though there were no real duels held, fun and good sportsmanship prevailed throughout the course.

SPRING SPORTS

SPRING HOCKEY

Spring hockey has been held very irregularly, because of the consistently rainy weather. There was, however, a Red-Gold game which was successful despite the girls' insufficient training. Hockey in the spring, is mainly to prepare the girls for autumn hockey. Therefore with the able teaching of Miss Taylor we feel that next year will be even more profitable.

RIDING

Horse-back riding has furnished new and exciting experiences despite the bumps and bruises caused by falls. We have all enjoyed learning about conformation and equitation from our instructor William Alexander. Riding was held at the Columbus Riding Club, in an indoor ring. Next year we hope that there will be more "horse enthusiasts", as they are missing much from not knowing the bare essentials of horse-back riding.

BASEBALL

As baseball was the most popular sport this spring, there were more girls enrolled than in any other sport. The Red-Gold game was fun, so next year, if weather permits, we hope to have more such games. On the whole, baseball was extremely successful and has aroused the interests of many girls.

TENNIS

Though tennis began very late in the season, it was excellent experience for many of the newcomers at this game. We all found, however, that "practice makes perfect", thanks to Miss Taylor who kept our spirits up by her able instruction. With this spring's play in mind, we look forward to future fun.

SWIMMING

This swimming season the team has tried to improve its strokes and to perfect its diving. There was a meet held at the Knights of Columbus between the Red and Gold Teams. We wish to express our gratitude to Miss Woddelle, who has helped us in many ways.

Looking back over the past year at the C.S.G. Lodge we recall many wonderful events. Under the capable guidance of Miss Rowe, our head-resident, we started the year with our old-girl, new-girl party. Then came the open-house at which we gave the Academy boys a whirl to the tune of "She'll Be Comin' Around the Mountain." Then the Thanksgiving and Christmas dinners gave us the feeling that brings us so close to each other.

At the Yardley fire on that dreary, February morning we entertained one hundred firemen who had just extinguished the fire next door. Our pictures even made the front of the Columbus papers.

Above the numerous other events of dances and bells stood out the second telephone to accommodate all the girls' calls, and a Lodge banner which Nancy Watt or Patti Nealon proudly carry in Chapel.

DRAMATIC CLUB PLAY

FRENCH CLUB PLAY

This year for the first time in several years Le Cercle Francais staged and produced an entertaining play "Les Précieuses Ridicules", by Moliere. Although the play was very light and amusing, the work done solely by the club and Miss Rowe, proved admirable. We plan to make this production an annual event.

Left to right: Lana McNamarra, Jane Clifton, Kathlyn Boyland, Carole Ratner.

Every year the same Twelfth Century play which has been given for more than forty years is presented by Form VI. The most impressive scene is the Madonna pantomime, where each year a different painting of the Madonna is portrayed by a student. The Madonna was played by Katherine Boylon this year.

CHRISTMAS PLAY

CHRISTMAS DINNER

With each passing year the Christmas dinner becomes lovelier and more impressive. Mr. Gordon Chalmers, the President of Kenyon College, gave an interesting speech, and other speeches were given by a girl from each of the three upper forms. Once again, Miss Hatheway led us in "The Night Before Christmas", and the Choir sang beautiful Christmas carols, for the enjoyment of all. The Seniors, also, sang their traditional headmistress song.

According to tradition the day before Christmas vacation, the Senior Class sings Christmas carols to the rest of the school. The girls, attired in festive red bows and carrying lighted tapers, begin on the third floor and continue slowly to the first floor. The sight and voices of the girls are, indeed, beautiful and impressive, affording much pleasure which becomes a hallowed tradition in C.S.G.

SENIOR CAROLLING

SENIOR CLASS PARTY

Topknot, as a rule, does not make special mention about any of the clever class parties. But, this year, the party given by the Seniors for the Juniors, indeed, takes the cake. The skit was a parody on the music of South Pacific set to C.S.G. topics. The sketch was so lauded by the Juniors and the Faculty that the Seniors gave the play in Chapel for the remainder of the Upper School. Many thanks, girls, it was wonderful!!

Brrrrrrrr! We're still shivering from those chill November snowstorms. The above picture depicts the forty "saints" who plowed their way to school the Tuesday following the big storm. These "Junior Eskimos" will go down in school history as the pioneers of a long, hard winter full of snow, ice, and sneezin'.
